Cold Meta creative. Approx. 145 spoken words. Ladder format — the twenty-thousand tier walked first, then the hundred-thousand tier, beat for beat. Companion asset to the Enrollment Engine VSL (v2.1) — shoot on the same day, same room, same wardrobe, same lens.

01 The Script

0:00 – 0:56

Real face, direct to lens. Low and level — but fast. This is a list, not a speech: no pauses between beats, and no warming up when you reach the second half. ~160 wpm.

HOOK

0:00 – 0:09

Five things separate someone teaching injectables at twenty thousand a month from someone doing a hundred.

None of them are the teaching.

AT TWENTY

0:09 – 0:29

So what does the twenty-thousand-a-month version look like?

There's no offer — there's a price. So every conversation ends up being about tuition.

An inquiry lands Tuesday night and gets answered Thursday.

Follow-up is one text, sent by whoever remembers.

And when a seat finally sells, nobody can name the ad that sold it.

AT A HUNDRED

0:29 – 0:48

And the hundred-thousand one?

An offer they can't price-shop.

A page that sells the seat before the call.

A front door that answers in seconds and qualifies by license and state.

Twenty touches over thirty days.

And every enrollment fed back, so the ads learn who actually buys.

CLOSE

0:48 – 0:56

Nothing changed in the classroom.

One system, live in fifteen days.
